Affairs Committee Discusses Problems And Select Leaders

With a very animated and heated discussion, the Student Affairs Committee, under the chairmanship of Miss Eva Levy, met for the first time this semester, February 5th, 1931.

The first topic discussed was the question regarding bridge parties on the campus. After many fiery speeches both on the part of the faculty members and the student members, a vote was taken and it was decided that bridge parties would be sanctioned upon the campus. The minor details of any bridge party, as to place and hour will be governed by a sub-committee under the chairmanship of Jacqueline Beedle. Members of this committee are Charles Carson, Marion Donaldson, Allen Wyatt and Margaret Lemon.

Regulations Discussed

The second vital issue before the committee was the question of regulations and conditions concerning the use of the Activities Room. Dorothy Asher is chairman of this committee, those working with her are Alice Rich, Lillian Tyrrell, Ciwa Griffiths, and Margaret Petray. These two issues, being passed by the Student Affairs Committee, are to be voted upon and adopted by the Executive Board.

Members Appointed

The faculty personnel appointed by Dr. Alexander C. Roberts, president of S. T. C., includes the following: Miss Eva Levy, chairman; Miss Edna Bock, Miss Jessie Casebolt, Dean Mary Ward, Dr. P. Valentin, Mr. William Knuth, Mr. Frank Ray, Miss Florence Hale.

The student members appointed by Catherine O'Sullivan, president of the Student Body are: Jacqueline Beedle, Edith Schultz, Dorothy Asher, Margaret Lemon, Alice Rich, Mae Quick, Margaret Petray, Ciwa Griffiths, Viola Giesen, Dot Williamson, Marion Donaldson, Lillian Tyrrell, Marie Regli, Mildred Scott, Allen Wyatt, Charles Carson, Don Horner, and Catherine O'Sullivan.

From twelve to one o'clock, the first Thursday of every month is the date set aside for the regular meeting of the Student Affairs Committee.

December '32 Class Plans Term's Events

At a meeting of the Class of December '32, chairmen were appointed to take charge of the various activities that are to be held during the semester. Miss Eva Levy, director of extra-curricular activities, has given the women permission to have a tea February 27. Ruth Lescinski is chairman of this function. A picnic will be held March 28. The class will support the "Black Flamingo" at the Community Theatre, March 13. A dinner and theatre party will be held on April 23.

New Sponsor Joins

At the last meeting of the Glee Club, held Monday, February 2, Dr. Sherman Brown, principal of the Frederic Burk school, was chosen sponsor of the club. He is taking the place of Dr. Stanley Ryplins, who before he took over his present position in the East was an active sponsor of this organization. Dr. Brown has shown much enthusiasm in the work of the Glee Club and he has already become a very active member.

P. T. A. Gives Luncheon

In honor of the faculty of the Frederic Burk school, the Executive Board of the Frederic Burk P. T. A. gave a luncheon, Tuesday, February 10. This affair symbolized the high degree of cooperation that has existed between the two groups during the past year.

Dr. Barney, besides being the physician at State Teachers' College, is also a prominent worker in various worthwhile club projects.

Application Made By Graduate Class For Record Check

In order that all students expecting to graduate may be sure that their work is actually complete, it is necessary that they file their applications for graduation at the beginning of their last semester at the college.

Rural Club, Winter Session Students In Marin County Tour

Members of the Rural Life Club, accompanied by Miss Cecilia Anderson and the winter session students, conducted an all day tour of Marin County schools and libraries, February 12.

In San Rafael, they met Mr. Davidson, Marin County Superintendent of Schools, and two of his supervisors, Miss Brewer and Miss Cook. Here they visited the county library where Miss Wright, the librarian, explained to them the use of the institution. With Miss Brewer and Miss Cook as guides, they proceeded to the San Quentin School. The little two room school was conducted by teachers who had once attended the school as pupils.

The next point of interest was Lagunitas. Two S. F. S. T. C. graduates teach the small school. The two rooms were carrying on projects of Indian and of Chinese life. A branch of the county library is established in the school and the librarian explained how widely used it is by the children and the parents of the district. The children spread out card tables in the sun for the visitor's luncheon.

After lunch they set out for Novato, passing several one room schools on the way. One of these, at Nicasio, is taught by a recent graduate of the college, Minnie Kern. At Novato, the third grade pupils entertained the party by reading poetry which they had composed themselves. The Glee Club of the school sang the program that they were planning to give over Brother Bob's Hour on K.P.O.

Debaters Back Ghandi Leadership In India

Bonfire Rally, Dance Prove Exceptional Evening 'Pep' Event

S. T. C. campus was the scene of the semi-annual Bonfire Rally, Wednesday night, February 11. Promptly at four o'clock the chairman of the rally, Viola Giesen, introduced Dean DuFour, the speaker of the afternoon, who, on behalf of President A. Roberts welcomed the students and expressed his appreciation for the enthusiasm and school spirit they were showing. Short speeches were then given by Catherine O'Sullivan, Marion Donaldson, Sherry O'Rourke, and Don Pryor.

One part of the program was the knighting of Bob Peterson, president of the low freshmen class. Garbed in green, symbolic of his rank, he was presented with a sword and duly crowned by Catherine O'Sullivan.

After the knighting, the students gathered on the lower field to watch the athletic events. The first event was a football game which ended in a nothing to nothing tie. The next on the program was a sack race, the result of which will always remain undecided. Two heads were not better than one in this case, and when the frosh and the upper classmen faced each other on the line of battle, each group had been given a different set of rules to follow. At the close of the race there were more sacks over the frosh line than over the upperclassmen's line, but the upperclassmen had put more sacks over both lines than the freshmen had. Then a tug of war was held, and the freshmen were the undisputed victors. Next was a joust which the freshmen won after a hard fought contest. The last event was the "Hands on the Rope" which ended in a tie.

After the contests, a program was given on the speaker's stand. Each class in the college was represented in a number. Joan McGeoghan, Lorraine Walsh, Ralph Cliffe, Doris Weinstein, Frances Burge, Jacqueline Beedle, Eunice Humphreys, Jack Evans, and others took part in the program.

While the entertainment was being given, a hot dinner was served on the campus. Just as the final number was concluded, the bonfire was lighted and this was the signal to serpentine. Yells and songs were led by Dot Williamson, student body yell leader, and Frank Howard, assistant yell leader.

After the bonfire, a dance was held in the gymnasium. Many students and their friends attended the dance. A prize foxtrot was won by Frank Howard and his partner. The affair ended at ten-thirty.

Oakland Teachers Will Form New Organization

Fifteen teachers of the Oakland School Department met Friday February 6, to discuss the formation of an organization, the purpose of which will be to acquaint new honor - student teachers with their school system.

These teachers were called together by Geraldine Eggleston, a former student and graduate of S. T. C., and they decided to meet once a month. The meetings are scheduled to be held at each of the teacher's homes.

Those present at the meeting were Miss Clara Crumpton, Geraldine Eggleston, Dorothy Baker, Marjorie Hammond, Margaret Dunn, Miss O'Neil, Cecyl Bruner, Janice Galbreath, Virginia Reid, Leona Rose, and Alice Anderson.

Children Enjoy Party

Valentine's Day was celebrated very fittingly by the Frederic Burk school on Friday, February 13. At 9:10, the children paraded by each room and deposited valentines in the receptacles which further carried out the decorations of the rooms.

Stanford Defenders Meet S.T.C. Team In Auditorium

... But Ghandi has benefited India because ... oh, no, Ghandi could not benefit India since ... thus the walls of Frederic Burk auditorium echoed and re-echoed the affirmation and negations of four intercollegiate debaters, Monday, February 16. The occasion was a debate between S. T. C. and Stanford University.

Phyllis Haley and Jane Nova taking the affirmative stand represented the college. Stanford was represented by Eleanor Furst and Jane Adams. The chairman of the event was Alice Helm, president of Delta Sigma, the debating society.

The affirmative delivery was for the most part oratorical while the Cardinal team used the conversational method.

The Frederic Burk auditorium contained a crowd of thoroughly interested spectators, who had begun to assemble before eleven o'clock. In order that the speakers would have the best opportunity the auditorium doors were kept closed while the debate was in process.

In the audience was Dr. L. F. Baldwin, a native of India, who was familiar with the subject matter of the debate. Dr. Baldwin after the debate exchanged views with the debaters. He explained that the Mahatma Ghandi was, as the debaters had said, a spiritual and not a political leader; he added that it should be considered that the American leader, Lincoln, was a great spiritual leader. In other words, spiritual leadership is necessary for the success of a political group.

After the debate the visiting team enjoyed lunching with the Delta Sigma members at Temple Bar.

Guest Visits College

Mrs. E. A. Clement, chief of the division of teacher training and certification, visited S. T. C. February 11. She was especially interested in problems related to teacher training, and spent much time in conference with educational groups, discussing a revision of the Education curriculum. Mrs. Clement also had many personal conferences with the different members of the academic department.

THE ONCE OVER

by James W. Stinchcomb

Retrospectively viewing the semester's first pep assembly: Benny Lom enjoying the other speakers and jesting about the Irish . . . pep rallies and applause are old stuff for Ben, yet he keeps his modesty . . . arriving late he would not go up in front while someone was speaking . . . the Coach asking for the other half of the student body . . . the yell leader's purple and gold attire . . . one rooster's cap in the front row . . . a center group that knew all of the yells . . . the assembly chairman happy among the men . . . the basketball manager fingering the speakers' table . . . the prexy telling of our enrollment rating . . . twenty-fifth in the nation.

Similarly considering the game with Marin: Another center group . . . women . . . that really yelled . . . the candy salesman making an appeal . . . the Marin team's bright yellow coveralls . . . Coach Cox sitting philosopher fashion, chin in hand, through the game . . . coolly advising the team at the half and ending with "Let's wipe 'em out" . . . financially the game was a happy event . . . more than twenty-five dollars remained after expenses were paid . . . no thanks are due those students who tried to crash the gate . . . neither can we acclaim the gate crashers as having the much talked of college spirit . . . this writer, while selling tickets, was even offered a drink of beer to get somebody in.

And the Bonfire Rally: Despite the absence of easily seven hundred students the affair was great . . . a nucleus of enthusiastic freshmen and a handful of others put it over . . . of the speakers Catherine O'Sullivan's remarks were the briefest . . . undoubtedly the most appreciated . . . some of the other speakers probably discovered that speaking directly instead of obliquely into a microphone is unwise . . . even George Gillespie running the wrong way and Freshmen Rudd and Kent losing shirt and pants respectively couldn't keep the Upper Classmen from winning.

A little bird told me: "Oh, I think he's out playing poker with Miss Crumpton." Such was the secretary's reply to a query about Dean Du Four's whereabouts.

Gum Chewers Scored By Psychology Prof.

Four out of five have it—meaning gum, of course. That means that eighty per cent of every class at S. T. C. are expert gum chewers.

Gum-Chewers Perfect

While Miss Hilda M. Holmes, psychology instructor, considers the gum habit a disgusting one, she cannot help but feel that S. T. C. gum chewers have attained a high degree of perfection—along the line. Miss Holmes finds that without previous rehearsal, students in all her classes keep perfect time with her words. Sometimes, a gum chewer gets out of time, causing him to chew on the left side of his face while everyone else is chewing on the right sides of their faces. The result is most disconcerting.

When this happens, Miss Holmes usually stops talking for a moment and everyone stops chewing, then all the students start together again, making the rhythm perfectly smooth once more. When the instructor makes some very interesting remark, instantly there is a unanimous shifting of gum, a halt, and then the chewing begins again.

Requests Nice Disposal

Miss Holmes is willing to be "Chewed - gum - at" although she would as soon have students in her classes puff cigarette smoke at her. However, she hopes that in the future students will put their discarded gum in the waste basket instead of under the rim of the desk, as she dislikes coming in contact with it.

Frederic Burk Pupils Learn Table Manners

Every grade in the Frederic Burk school has been trying to improve its conduct and habits of etiquette in the cafeteria since the beginning of the semester.

Miss Edna E. Felt and Miss Ruthann Smith, who have been placed in charge of the children, are working out the plan of improvement along lines of orderliness in entering, courtesy in line and in passing to the tables, and good manners at the table.

Some of the students wanted competition between tables, but since they are not trying against each other, but are trying to improve themselves, the teachers thought it would be better to keep individual scores, which will not be made public.

The improvement in conduct in the cafeteria since last semester is evident even to a disinterested observer. The children are taking the matter very seriously and are trying hard to co-operate.

Advisory Council Has Dinner Party For All Members

Members of the Advisory Council gave a large dinner party at the Western Women's Club on Monday evening, February 16. A very worth while and entertaining program was presented.

Many Speakers Heard

The program given included John C. Glade, deputy superintendent of San Francisco in charge of high schools, who spoke on "Preparation that Modern High Schools Give for Participation in College Student Activities;" Catherine O'Sullivan, who spoke on the "Opportunities Open to Freshmen of S. T. C. for Building up College Ideals and Activities;" and Mary Margaret Davis, chairman of the transfer group, who spoke on "What We, the Student Advisors, Have Done to Adjust Freshmen to College Life and Activities;" Mrs. Bertha Monroe, professor of social science, and Dean David Cox spoke on "The Student Advisor's Opportunity as Seen by a Faculty Advisor;" and Mrs. Barbieri, president of the Parent Faculty Club, spoke on "The Vision of the Parent Faculty Club."

Musical Program Given

Other short speeches were given by Mrs. Weinstrom, Dean Ward, Miss Crumpton, Margaret Petray, and Charlene Crawford. A short musical program, presenting Muriel Scherrubbe in two vocal selections and Mr. E. Minzenmeyer in a cornet solo, was given.

Charlene Crawford, chairman of the affair, was ably assisted by a committee consisting of: Grace Smith, chairman of the refreshment committee; Ruth Lescinski, chairman of the reception committee; Mary Kennett, chairman of the decoration committee; and Stelstar Olsen, chairman of the invitation committee.

This dinner marked the beginning of a number of social events to be given by the Advisory Council. During the remainder of the semester, a group of informal teas will be given in the activities room in order to give freshmen the opportunity to become acquainted with their advisors and with each other.

Magazines Discussed In Mr. Fenton's Class

What magazines should be read by students? This is one of the questions that Mr. Fenton, S. T. C. protagonist for better English, discusses before his classes. Some of his opinions:

"The American Magazine is one of the worst examples of the vulgar trend in American periodicals. It is based upon the Horatio Alger theme of the poor, but hard working, boy who rises from the railroad section gang to president of the company."

"The Reader's Digest and similar condensing periodicals are all right for the person who wishes to talk fluently upon all subjects with fifteen minutes notice."

"The New Yorker is by far the cleverest of its kind and has many imitations that fall short of its sophistication."

"It is surprising how well written stories in the College Humor magazine are, despite the fact that some claim it throws emphasis upon the wrong side of college life. Among the other magazines, The Saturday Evening Post is good literature, although it is written to a set standard through the efforts of the publishers. Time is especially helpful, the captions under the illustrations being particularly amusing."

Mother: "Whoever taught you to use that dreadful word?"
Tommy: "Santa Claus."
Mother: "Santa Claus?"
Tommy: "Yes, Mama, when he fell over a chair in my bedroom on Christmas eve."

Opinion Offered By English Prof. On Smoking Idea

Another instructor has offered his opinion on the question that is causing such a great discussion around the S. T. C. campus right now. Here is Dr. Elias T. Arnesen's comment on the problem:

THIS "SMOKING" WORLD (A Burning Question)

To smoke or not to smoke; that is the question. Whether it's nobler in this land for a maid to puff on Old Gold and Luckies—of outrageous makings. Or to quit these pesky nails of troubles. And thus to smash the tobacco trade.

To quit. To smoke no more, and by a last smoke we end. The coughs and fragrant breaths that "frails" are heir to—

'Tis a consummation devoutly to be wished. Or, to puff away, to smoke. To blow, perchance some rings. Ay, there's the rub.

For in that trick to make ring after ring Grow into huge resplendently immortal coils. Must give fair "fluffs" a pause.

Then there's the blindfold test. That makes calamity of many a long life; For who would bear the quips and cracks of "toughies"

Who passed and knew a Murad from a Spud, mere males. So quite unfeeling to their sisters' downfall. Who now—all wet in their decisions—humbly their exit take

And with a handgrip look, down an alley. Their quietus make. But not with a bare bodkin (Heaven forbid!)

And what of boy friends' proffered cigs? To grunt, to sweat, to swear at their flat queer fags.

That cause you dread of sudden swoons (maybe?) Swoons! That old fashioned device of granny's age To which no self-respecting modern will return!

This baffles you, no less, and makes you rather bear the pills you have. Than fly to others that you know not of.

Thus smoking doth make cowards of us all. For even now, that New Year's resolution is sickled with the pale cast of fumes

And assignments of great length and breadth and width and moment. Is this respect are not respected.

But screened completely from the fair one's view. And yet, and yet, a puff of smoke Doth make the whole world kin.

— E. T. ARNESEN.

Volunteers Needed To Help In Library

Five students have already volunteered to assist in the new plan for handling one-hour books in the library, according to Miss Ruth Fleming, librarian. However, there are still some vacant hours to be assigned—the hours from ten to eleven and from two to four. Students having any of these hours free and wishing to gain some experience in library work, are asked to see Miss Fleming and discuss the matter with her. As stated in last week's Bay Leaf, the work is not difficult, and consists of giving out desired one-hour books and checking their return.

Holiday Tea Planned

Many plans for the forthcoming events of Delta Sigma Nu were completed at the last business meeting.

Arrangements for a Valentine Tea for the new members, to be held February 13, were discussed and several committees were appointed. Mrs. Elsie Barnum is chairman of the affair. Oriana Stahl was appointed chairman of the membership committee and Frances Petty, chairman of the program committee. The club members are now the women who work in the cafeteria.

Frederic Burk Has New Library Tables

After much waiting and eager anticipation, the Children's Library of the Frederic Burk school has at last received its first shipment of the new furniture which is to conform to the Spanish architecture of the room. The children were particularly thrilled, and although the two sloping tables, which were the first to arrive, were designated for the use of the smaller children, the older boys and girls are finding them so comfortable that the librarian, Miss Hermine Henze, predicts that the younger children will have to resort to other tables.

Shelving, exhibit cases, and filing cabinets, matching the tables are also to be had for the room.

It seems that Mr. Frank Ray's fame as a constructor has travelled far and wide for when the tables arrived, one child said, "Did Mr. Ray make them?"

DEAN ADVOCATES LECTURE REVIEWS

Dean Mary Ward offers the following articles entitled "Digging In" as an aid to study. It was taken from the paper of Colgate University, The Intercollegian.

"The secret is not in how to study, it is in how to review." . . . Try this system.

Take Notes Carefully

"Take your notes Mary Ward as you have been taught to. Then buy some three-by-five filing cards. Look over your notes and use a red pencil. Some parts are easy to remember. There are other parts that are 'the veriest devil.' That formula in chemistry, or name in history . . . these are the key points in the lecture. Write small and enter these high spots on your cards."

Now you have the difficult points all together. Tuck the cards into your pocket. And here is where system enters. During the spare moments of the day review these notes. Where, when, or how you read them makes little difference, but get them read and be thorough about it.

"The idea is to guarantee that you keep reviewing your entire work during the course of the year. Also, that you keep seeing the material you have mastered in rather long intervals, while you have the work you have not mastered served up to you every few days."

"Another point. Do exactly the same thing with the books you read."

Review Finished

"Finally, you run bump into the examinations. If you have been following the suggestions you are more or less 'all set.' Your review is practically done, because you have been seeing to it every day. However, take all those chemistry cards out of the key pile. Go through them and check all doubtful points with a red pencil. Do it again and the puzzlers should have a blue pencil this time. Finally write the points which are still unsurmouted on separate cards and hammer away at them. There won't be more than three or four cards. Then the day before examination, read over your general notes carefully, and go to a movie that evening."

INSTRUCTOR GIVES BOOK REVIEW AIDS

"Undergraduates, when reviewing books for a college paper, should not judge them, but in a concise, brilliant manner describe the book and the reviewer's reaction to it." Using the reviews in the Stanford Daily as excellent examples, Mr. Frank L. Fenton, instructor in the English Department, who has, in the past, written book reviews for current periodicals, made this statement when discussing the technique of book reviewing.

In writing for newspapers such as the Chronicle or Examiner one would consider as the important points, the portrayal of the plot, the type of book—realistic or romantic, fiction or non-fiction, and have in mind that the review is written for a person who wishes to know whether or not to buy the book.

May '33 To Hold Novel Bridge Party

The class of May '33 will hold its first social event of this term February 20 when they will hold a bridge in the activities room. From four until six o'clock the members of the class will enjoy bridge and dutch whist. To make it a decidedly informal affair it has been decided that the players will sit on the floor during the games. This is to be called a "Monte Carlo" bridge because of this Bohemian style of playing. Those in charge of this affair are: Marian Tardiff, chairman, Mary Moore, Marie Spezia, Dale Brown, and Margaret Cassidy.

Entertainment will be rendered by various members of the class. This event is limited to class members only and the admission is twenty-five cents. It is hoped that the members of the class will participate and make this event a success.

Students Advised To Type All Notes

Miss Marion Barbour caught up a thread of conversation, and converted a comment made by a student, who had had some experience in typing, into a suggestion for greater efficiency in studying. Those who know how to type, take heed. After a lecture type your notes, thinking of them, of course, as you type, and the impression this immediate review of a lecture leaves is usually a lasting one.

To those who have been working, and find it somewhat difficult to return to the routine of school life, Miss Barbour sends the encouraging thought that such business training may lead to an administrative position in the future.

If this nation is not full of class-conscious young men, the sophomores have not been doing their duty by the freshmen.

Varsity Quintet Will Meet Saint Mary's Moragans

Game To Be Held On St. Mary's Campus; S.T.C. Has Even Chance

For the first time this season the State varsity basketball team will go into a game with an even chance of emerging victorious. The Staters will meet the strong Saint Mary's frosh hoopers on Friday night at Saint Mary's College. If records are to be taken in consideration the frosh team should be slight favorites to take the Staters, but the improvement of play shown by Coach Cox's charges in the last three games, in which the Staters have won two, has turned the game into a toss-up as to who will win.

This probably will be the State varsity's last game this season and they will be out to wind up their season in a blaze of glory. Coach Cox must soon turn his entire attention to track, and therefore last practice for the varsity will be Thursday. The starting lineup will probably find Ed. Henry at center, either Crowley or Mendelsohn at left forward, Allan Bell, right forward, and Kaufman and Garden as guards. Horner, Bragg, and Murphy will also probably see action before the final whistle.

The game will start at 8 P. M. A preliminary game between the State 30's and the Saint Mary's 45's is to be arranged; this game if scheduled will start at 7 P. M.

Skating Party Arranged

The W. A. A. will give an Ice Skating Party, February 27, at the San Francisco Ice Skating Rink. Marie Regil has been appointed chairman of the affair. Races, stunts, and games will add to the enjoyment of the evening. A W. A. A. member will be stationed in the book store to sell tickets. All members of the student body are invited to attend. All W. A. A. members, who have paid their dues, must present their receipt when purchasing the tickets in order to get a reduction.

Promising Track Team Is Trained For New Events

State students will have a chance in the near future to support what has been commented on as looking like a winning combination of track men. The men whom Coach David Cox is trying to develop into point winners include several former high school stars.

Barring injuries and loss of pre-season form, this year's team will probably set a fairly high mark at which future State athletes must shoot. One inducement that should produce classy performances in each event lies in the fact that school records start this season, and in some cases will extend over a period of years.

The men are holding prospects of a fruitful season. The daily workouts at Kezar stadium, attended by nearly thirty men, are bringing out a class of spirit never before exhibited. These men must be prepared for the extra still schedule arranged. The opposition includes nearly all of the best high school and junior college squads in this vicinity.

COACH COX says

There is always a large number of people that blame sport participation for the poor scholastic record of some students. Due to the time spent in competing for places on a team, this would be rated as a contributing factor; but in most cases the very best athletes are also good students.

Generally the true sport studies hard to keep his grades up so that he will be allowed to play on the team. He knows that athletics are only a part of his school work, therefore judgement will be passed on both.

The recent ruling of the faculty, with regard to mid-terms, should be a great help to all students and especially freshmen. In some previous cases students were failing without having the slightest knowledge to that effect until it was too late. Now it is up to those with low marks to get in and work to make up for lost time.

Riding Students Meet

All students who are interested in horseback riding will meet on Friday February 13, at 12:30 p. m., in room 118. Officers will be elected and the women will decide what academy they will attend. Twenty-two students and three faculty members, Miss Florence Hale, Miss Doris Holtz, and Mrs. K. Bridge, have signed up for this sport.

A report from Tarentum, Pennsylvania, says that high-school students, for their sins, are required to copy pages of the Congressional Record. The Great War taught us, however, that we should not put much faith in atrocity stories.

THE CANDY WITH A COLLEGE EDUCATION

Sacramento Junior college has the only junior college crew in the United States. The University of California is largely responsible for the presence of this sport at the Sacramento institution. The Golden Bears have a fine crew, but there is little competition available in the west. Last year the Bears presented Sacramento J. C. with a new shell. There are only thirteen collegiate crews in the United States and Sacramento has one of them.

According to the S. J. State College Times, "Babe" Hollingsberry, football coach of Washington State college, never played the grid game in college. In fact, he never attended a college.

Basketball fans at the Leland Stanford University no longer will be kept on edge during the last period of play, when the score is tied, and no one knows how many seconds are left to pull the game out of the fire.

An electric clock, equipped with minute and second hands, has been installed on the scoreboard to keep spectators informed.

Fifty thousand dollars has been voted by the alumni of Columbia University, New York, as the beginning of an endowment of the university athletics, in line with a plan put forward several weeks ago by President Nicholas Murray Butler.

Tennis Entries Closed

Entries for W. A. A. tennis are closed. In the individual competition are Gladys Benerd, Margaret Graham, Marion Donaldson, and Dorothy Guinn.

After the singles will come the doubles, both of which will take all semester to compete. Maryan Rice, manager, has divided the students into championship and novice groups.

The tennis tournament last semester was halted because of the rain. However, the freshmen carried off the honors, officially, by taking both doubles. Maryan Rice of the Junior Class, won first singles and the second singles are yet to be played off.

Muscles Balk At P. E.

There is good cause for the groans that are heard over in the gymnasium. They are caused by the newly acquired "natural dancing muscles" which do not seem to be getting used to their new strenuous activity. The Physical Education Majors and Minors are having a hard time of it because they use different muscles for tennis, basketball, swimming, tumbling, folk dancing, and clog dancing. When women have three or four of these courses in one day, they find it hard to study their chemistry, physics, constitution, or psychology. However, like all good sportsmen, they will not give up.

Freshmen Basketball Tournament Is Started

A basketball Elimination Tournament is starting in Mrs. K. Bridge's freshman gymnasium classes this week. Four games a day, two in the gymnasium, and two in the courts, will be played off at 12:10 to 12:55. The contest will be in the form of an elimination tournament between the A division, which constitutes the beginners, the B division, or the intermediates, and the C division or the advanced class. Names and captains have been chosen by each section. Some of the very original names are the Echysbans, the Purr-Pulls, The Vipers, The Speed Demons, The Jumping Jumbles, The Speedsters, The Runabouts, The Palpitating Puppies and The Hit and Miss.

The games are being coached by the Physical Education majors and minors who are taking the course in the technique of teaching basketball. They are Jane Rousey, Margaret Petray, Winifred St. John, Rachael Smith, Betty Stevenson, Kay Shurtz, Kathleen Prendergast, Bud DeHay, Marion Blue, Marie Bushell, Helen Shea, Violet Livermore, Elsie Shulte, Lena Watt, Dot Bartles, Irma deMaria, and Red Mareck.

W. A. A. Members Examined

Betty Stevenson has been appointed manager of Health in W. A. A. Her duties are to see that the women's costumes are acceptable before they enter the gymnasium. Monday, February 2, Doctor Edna Barney, the College Physician, examined all the women who joined the W. A. A. this semester. Betty assisted Dr. Barney in this work since 101 women were examined. The manager wishes to announce that all W. A. A. members who have not been examined, should see Dr. Barney as soon as possible.

Tumbling Stunts To Be Given Next Month

A program given by the Tumbling Club, will be held in the Frederic Burk Auditorium, March 13 from 12:10 to 12:30. The club will stage an exhibition of single and double group stunts, high dives, flips, and rolls, in the form of a show. "Bud" DeHay is president, other members are the following: Margaret Graham, Catherine Grasse, Babs Gettemey, Red Mareck, Doris Nystrom, Audles and Dorine Gordon, Sylvia Burke, and Winnie St. John. All women, even though they are inexperienced, are invited to join the club and take part in the stunts. The club is open to ten more students and meets on Wednesday and Friday at 12:10. The club is expected to be affiliated with the W. A. A. very soon.

Prof. Hates Bugs

Brace up, Zoologists who fear the touch of those slimy frogs and those jumpy grasshoppers. You are not hopeless, for the Psychologist, Miss Hilda Holmes, has the worst fear of worms and slimy mysterious places like country lakes and so forth. Feature it! Yes, Miss Holmes owns up to it and confesses that she abhors those slimy things.

Club Constitution Now Being Revised By W. A. A. Members

Gladys Benerd, president of W. A. A. has appointed a committee of four members to revise the constitution. Margot Aase, Ida Roche, Helen Vida, and Margaret Mareck are working on the revision. Because there has been much discussion regarding the point system, Miss Benerd has appointed a committee, Betty Stevenson, Mary Moriga, Margaret Petray, Bud DeHay, and Maryan Rice, to work on the changing of the system.

The Women's Athletic Association has now joined the Athletic Conference of American College Women. With a membership of over two hundred, the women are working to live up to the requirements set up by the A. C. A. C. W.

With a strong group of managers much is expected from the major sports. Basket ball managers are Helen Shea and Bud DeHay; Health Manager, Betty Stevenson; Tennis Manager, Maryan Rice; Baseball Manager, "Red" Mareck and Swimming Manager, "Babs" Gettemey.

Led by Bozonier, who tallied eight points, the State 30's defeated the P & S college freshmen basketball team on last Friday, by the score of 12 to 9. The 30's were out-weighted by the husky dental college team but showed a little speed and managed to eke out a close victory.

The 30's meet the strong Crockett 45s at Crockett on February 28th, in their first out of town game. They will have to play plenty of basketball if they are to beat the Crockett team, who hold victories over some of the best lightweight fives in the bay region.

Rumors have it that Runar Stone is contemplating entering the high jump, and pole vault, besides running the low and high hurdles. He might also dabble in the discus and middle distance events. However, Runar has no intentions of putting the shot as he does not believe in one exerting himself. Runar keeps in training by entering "prize collegiate contests."

While on the subject of athletes, we must hand this week's prize to Allan Bell. Coming out for basketball at midseason Allan fought himself to a starting position inside a few weeks. His experience and fight has kept him in this position since. Allan played football for Galileo in his high school days, and he was a sweet little player. We look forward with high expectation of seeing Allan one of States' pigskin tossers next fall.

New Hobby Discovered

An interesting hobby is the one of learning the derivation of scars that one sees on the arms of the men and women of the college. Thelma Reese, upon being asked how she got the scar on her arm, said that she was eating a hot dog while sitting on a window sill, lost her balance and fell out. Should she be called Humpty Dumpty?

Red Mareck has a large scar on her arm and blames it on a Pee Wee golf stick that was accidentally swung at her.

Some sentences in Spanish were recently spoken in an American talkie. Quite a number of listeners detected the difference.

Presidio State Swim Tonight In Premier Meet

First Event In History Of Men's Athletics To Be Held

State aquatic performers will swim tonight against the strong Presidio Swimming Club. It will be the first swimming meet to be held in the history of men's athletics at S. T. C. The meet will take place in the Presidio Y. M. C. A. tank and will start at eight o'clock. Everyone is urged to come. The Presidio Y. M. C. A. is located at the end of the E or D carline. Presidio Swimming Club authorities state that they will be prepared to handle a crowd, and a full program of events will be run off in a manner that will interest spectators.

Club Has Many Stars
The Presidio Swimming Club is composed of swim stars recruited from high school teams and is a formidable menace to the hopes of the State mermen. Some of the stars swimming for the club hold city records for speed in their various events. Frank Hadley, dash ace, holds several records, as does Melvin Tuffo. Bill Mayo, Kirk Truman, and Frank Bennet hold city records in their respective events. Others on the Presidio Club team are Weston, Garret, and Case.

State Team Improves
The State team, although not entirely decided upon, due to the results of the inter-class meet not being known, has been improving since the day of the very first practice session. Those interested will be assured of an exciting evening.

Yell Leader Chosen

Tryouts for yell leader of the Frederic Burk school were held Tuesday, February 10. The winners are to be trained by two men of the college, Frank Howard and George Gillespie.

The yell leaders will officiate at the soccer games. Soccer season has just begun, the first game being between the Frederic Burk and the Alvarado teams. The result of the game was a win for the Frederic Burk boys.

Last semester, one of the students did part of her work at State Teachers, and part of her work in extension at some other college. But since she hadn't checked her program, she failed to realize that she was carrying 19 units, while 18 units are the maximum allowed. As the result, although she did the work, she received credit for only the eighteen units allowed.

In order that other students may avoid this and other mistakes, students are urged by the registrar's office to check their programs as soon as possible. For unless courses are actually registered, they will not receive any credit.

All students expecting to do practice teaching next semester should now be making appointments for their interviews. Those who expect to do Elementary teaching should see Miss Grace Carter, Vice-Principal of the Training School, and those to do Junior High work should see Mr. S. L. Brown, principal of the Frederic Burk school.

Appointments should be made with Miss Richardson, Frederic Burk secretary, in the afternoon from February 9 to March 6.

Miss Florence Vance, registrar, announces that "clinch" notices will be in the students' Post Boxes by Thursday, February 19. All students receiving these warnings should consult with their faculty advisors and instructors, in an effort to find the causes for their receiving these grades.

Official Calendar

Lost -- One Zoo!

For days she wandered in Anderson Hall, upstairs and down, searching the rooms thoroughly. For hours and hours she searched the corridors of College Hall. It seemed her searching was all in vain; she could not find Miss Edith Pickard's Zoo. She could not restrain her curiosity any longer; she would inquire. Miss Freshman did, and found to her amazement that when she opened the door to 210, one morning, there sat animals, but not the kind she had expected. It was only Miss Pickard's Zoology 1A class.

BOB PETERSON LOSES IMPORTANT WEAPON

"Mamma, I lost my dolly," cries the little girl. Only it isn't a little girl; it's a big boy. And he isn't crying; he's searching. And it isn't a dolly; it's a saw.

At the frosh rally last week, Bob Peterson was duly crowned—with a green hat—as president of the low freshman class. To him was presented, with all the usual pomp, a beautiful sceptre to wield over his multitude of serfs.

Alas and a couple of lacks! In the excitement, King Robert placed his saw, with sweet and gentle care, on the top of the piano. Five minutes later he returned to find it gone. Whether its green ribbon affected the saw so as to cause it to sprout legs and walk is unknown.

The fact remains that his baton has disappeared and with it his dignity; for how can he exert his imperial power when he is minus his symbol of sovereignty?

Book Store Makes Big Turnover On Old Books

That the Student Book Store is far more capable of selling second hand books than individual students are, is shown by the fact that during the first few weeks of this semester the store sold, for students, 450 used books, thereby returning to the original owners $848.53.

By allowing the store to sell their books for them, students get more for their books, they sell more books, they enable Mr. Marples to know how many new books to order, and all of the confusion and bother of trying to identify some unknown "customer," perhaps by her "green dress," is done away with.

Record Book Issue

Miss Ruth Fleming, librarian, states that a record was established last week in the number of books to leave the library, three hundred ninety-two having gone out over the week end. This must have seemed somewhat overwhelming to the ones having to check each book out and in, yet in proportion to the number of the student body the percentage is not large, being approximately one-third of a book to each student.

Honor Status Made

As a result of a survey, made by Miss Florence Vance, recorder, of the scholarship status of the students of this college for the Fall semester, 1930, it was found that 59 students received honor status, 45 made "B" classification, 535 have a "C" classification, and 241 are "D" students. In addition to these, four students, although they did not achieve honor status this term, made a straight "A" average for the term.

By winning all the field events ... On RALLY DAY at STATE ... Freshies proved a second time NO upperclassmen rate!!!

Kingly BOB put down his SWORD To rest his weary arm ... But SHERRY came and stole the SWORD ... So BOB has lost his charm!!!

They even "copped" the RALLY signs To advertise their HOP ... But FRESHIES WOULD to make it GOOD ... That's why it was no flop!!!

GOLDEN Gaters, GOLDEN Owls And PANTHERS gold with chills... Are names to make the Easterns gasp, ... "There's GOLD in them thar hills"!!

Ah! now we lay us down to sleep Before the chime of two! Exams are o'er ... we shake no more ... We're thankful, profs, are YOU?!!

Students Feast On Own Concoctions

Oh! where oh! where, does all the food go? Oh! where, oh, where does it go? This is the tune sung by several people interested in Miss Alice Spelman's cooking class.

This class meets every Wednesday morning, for the sole purpose of cooking food. After Miss Spelman has given the directions as to procedure, and the class has finally managed to assemble an edible victual, something must be done with the concoction. Perhaps, the tempting dish could be offered for sale in the cafeteria, but, no, it might not prove the best policy to try one's first attempts on obliging customers. There being no other way out, the student cooks have decided to disregard calories and all reducing diets and take to feasting one morning a week.

... TERTIUM QUID ...

YOU, who clamor around all the time for Rallies and then hold an awful debate with yourselves whether or not to attend them—YOU, I say, ought to get an inside picture of how one of them takes place.

For instance, take our BONFIRE RALLY held last Wednesday ... None of you would have gotten even a smell of that hot camp supper if it hadn't been for such unselfish bean-stirrers as Charlene Crawford, Christine Huttman, Louise Mico, Grace Perret, Mae Quick, Mary Kennett, "Red" Marek, and Alice Heim. They missed the whole Rally merely to butter your buns and cook your coffee somewhere down in the Caf. And yet most of you will never appreciate the sacrifice they made just for your sakes.

And how about those "spots" that lighted up your outdoor program? Nobody but Don Pryor and Maurice Boyd installed them. And it was Maurice who operated them during the whole performance while thoughtful Don brought him a plate of beans for company.

For Don Pryor was busy elsewhere. It was he who took care of getting the platform for us. And just five minutes before the start of the Rally, Don was still dragging out rugs and chairs and even the piano to put upon the platform.

Then there's Sherry O'Rourke. He took entire charge of the field events between the frosh and the upperclassmen. Also, it was his bright idea to inaugurate Bob Peterson into office so spectacularly.

Then, you probably wondered at the decorations in the gym. Lillian Tyrrell, that genius who can make a palace out of a barn overnight, was the one who dolled up the gym in less than two hours. Her right-hand men were Ralph Cl-off, Thelma Silvia, and Ethel Newton. They, too, lost out on the field stunts.

Then there's Dot Asher. She was the one who chose Tom Coakley and his six-piece orchestra to play for the Rally Dance. Pretty good taste, believe me ... And Frank Howard! Not only did he do some nifty yell-leading, but he also banged up the drum at a pretty swift rate in Jack Crowley's orchestra during the Spotlight Program.

Change In Grades

Children in the primary grades are experimenting with a new system, having music as its base, according to Miss Helen M. Christiansen of the Kindergarten-Primary Department.

Through the medium of music, it is hoped that the children of all nationalities will be enabled to have a better understanding of one another, with friendship as a result. Several Swedish children are going to demonstrate the songs of their native country. Children of other nationalities will probably contribute songs of their native lands sometime during the term.

Profs Need Math A

Being a recorder isn't a "snap" by any means. Miss Florence Vance can testify to that. After spending hours explaining to the various faculty members how to make out state reports, she spent hours more with each individual instructor, trying to find out where his mathematical errors were.

Perhaps the Math A class should be extended to include all faculty members who somehow got through college without learning how to add, subtract, and multiply.

EDITORIALS

Your Own Request

Herewith you will find "splinters from the Executive Board." Read them and think. In them lies another request for co-operation between the members of this college in the solution of student problems. It is in reality a direct appeal from yourselves, and you can hardly resist that. Every member of the Executive Board was popularly elected by you, yourself, and thus represents you. So, we know, you will surely answer promptly and directly this, your own request.

"It has been brought to the attention of the S. T. C. student body officers by both faculty and students of the college that the noise in the hallways between the hours of eight and nine A. M. steadily grows in volume and persists in spite of all efforts to quell it.

"This is the first time that a complaint of this kind has been brought sharply to the attention of those whom you have chosen to represent you in all matters concerning you in student affairs. At present, the Executive Board is in just as serious a state of transition and unsettledness as the rest of the student body. We can accomplish nothing whatever without your entire support. Please co-operate with us by doing your part to keep as quiet as possible in the buildings while classes are in progress.

Another thing, the posters which are placed on the walls are not to be marked up. They are put there for a definite purpose, and much time and conscientious efforts are required to make them appear neat and attractive. By defacing them you deface the whole school. Uphold our own work; we can stand quite a bit of upholding.

It is to your advantage, to have a capable Executive Board; it is to our advantage to have an enthusiastic Student Body in back of it; it is to everyone's advantage to have a progressive, alert college. Please co-operate."

Come on everyone, lend a hand to boost your own student-government.

Orthographic Weaklings

Even Stanford journalism instructors have had to revert to the students back to their first mechanics as new writers: these university scholars actually are having to learn how to spell!

According to recent issue of the San Francisco Chronicle Irwin, a Stanford journalism instructor, was quoted: "We tried spelling bees last year but they were spelled down so fast that there was no one left after the first round."

The article continued: "Twelve words out of forty were missed on the average paper of February 2. Stellar honors went to the student who missed but three, while four tied for the consolation prize, having nineteen wrong. Here are some of the nineteen: kimono, sacrilegious, liquefy, verify, tranquillity, battalion, pavilion, renege, maneuver, picnicking, and desiccate."

We wonder just how our journalists would compare with those at Stanford?

Girl Smoker Smokes

Dear T. N. T.—
According to some people around this school, the women's smoking question rests on their manly or womanly shoulders. Well, let me tell these people something: If a girl wants to smoke, all of the sarcastic letters written by male, female, or otherwise are not going to stop her.

The question to be settled is not—are the women going to smoke, but—where are they going to smoke? Shall they continue smoking in parked automobiles, etc., or is the school going to get modern and provide a room to take the automobile's place?

—A Sarcastic Woman

We All Suffer Together

Dear T. N. T.—
The Music 16A class may be a good course to those who take it, but to the ones who have to listen to it, it's a nuisance. Why can't the students in this course practice their scales in some place where the rest of the college wouldn't be disturbed?

There are at least eight pianos in College Hall and every one is used by one of the students in the music class who must, it seems, practice scales!

How can anyone study when he has to listen to that monotonous c-d-e-f-g-a-b-c all day long?

Isn't there a sound proof room for those beginners and their abominable scales, or will the students of this college be forced to go to a public library in order to find the quiet that is necessary for conscientious study?

—Scale Hater

Bobby Sturgeon: "Mother, why hasn't papa any hair?"

Mrs. Sturgeon: "Because he thinks so much, dear."

Bobby: "Why have you so much, Mother?"

Mrs. Sturgeon: "Run along and play now."

"When a man holds a pretty girl on his lap for an hour it seems to him a minute," Mr. Einstein said. "But when he sits on a hot stove a minute, it seems to him an hour."

That's relativity."

Chester McGrath, indignantly, "See here, waiter, there's a piece of wood in my sausage."

Waiter: "Yes, sir, but I'm sure."

Chester: "Sure, nothing, I don't mind eating the dog, but I'm hanged if I'm going to eat the kennel too."

Mrs. Dorris: "Tell me what you know of the Mongolian race."

Kirk Truman (sleepily): "I did not go; I went to a football game instead."

Arnesen Progeny Present At Rally

Does your baby look like Ibsen? Dr. Elias T. Arnesen, head of the English Department, says his does. To prove his contention he brought the progeny, robed in robust red, to the Bonfire Rally.

The child, it would seem, sensed the moment's excitement and dashed about, equipped with a Chevalier smile; papa brought up the rear, quite creditably, and none can say that he avoids his parental obligations. Already the younger generation has run into the barrier of social convention. Mrs. T. H. Ellsworth, publication sponsor, reports that, with her own eyes, she saw the infant bump into the partitions of the publication's office.

Of course, Mrs. Arnesen was present. Nothing quite as precious as Master Arnesen could get far out of her sight. After captivating the faculty and supporting what we now know to be a justified contention, Master Arnesen left, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Arnesen.

Advisors Hold Meeting

Under the able leadership of Charlene Crawford, chairman, the student advisory are doing one of the most constructive pieces of work in the college. To further the already effective individual work that these students have done, a business meeting will be held in the near future. A week later, at a dinner that is being planned, members of the Parent-Faculty Club, and many outside speakers who have made a specialty of vocational guidance and advisory work will address the S. T. C. student advisors.
